

FISH HATCHERY FOR BURLINGTON
Will Be Erected Next Spring
Somewhere on the Lake Front and Will Be Capable of Handling Many Millions of Eggs of Finny Tribe

Tentative plans for the erection and maintenance of a permanent state fish hatchery in Burlington, announced in the Free Press several weeks ago, were definitely confirmed on Saturday morning by State Fish and Game Commissioner Edwin Leavens of Montpelier, following an inspection of the present hatchery located on the wharf of the Champlain Transportation company, which was closed Monday for the season.

The new permanent hatchery will be erected next spring somewhere along the lake front. Commissioner Leavens and State Fish and Game Warden Henry N. Rowley have been looking over two or three prospective sites but the exact location has not yet been selected. The new hatchery will be capable of handling about four times as many eggs and fish as the initial one established at the wharf about six weeks ago.

The closing of the present hatchery in this city marks the end of a most successful venture for the hatchery was a much better affair than had been hoped for. The percentage of eggs hatched was much greater than in any other hatchery ever established about the State and the percentage of fish raised was also high. The closing was necessary because the hatching of fish eggs can be done only in the spring. In all, some 70,000,000 eggs were put through the process of hatching and the percentage of loss was very low. Green eggs were used in the hatchery for the first time in the history of hatching and the experiment gave good results.

Eggs of the pike perch, or better known as the wall-eyed pike, were hatched in the largest number, approximately 50,000,000 of them being put through the process. The remainder of the eggs hatched were yellow pike. The wall-eyed pike were planted in Lake Champlain, rivers, streams, ponds, lakes and brooks about the State, while the yellow pike were distributed in the back ponds, lakes and other inland waters.

If the plans of the commission materialize, the ponds and lakes of Vermont will soon be stocked with Chinook salmon. The eggs for the hatching will be sent from the Pacific coast and will be put through the hatchery at Burlington.

Massachusetts, through her fish hatcheries, experiments with the eggs of the Chinook salmon and got good results, and ponds and lakes of spring-origins and feeding have been stocked with the fish. That State was the first on the eastern coast to attempt such a feat as the distance to transport the eggs was considered too far.

Chinook salmon was the fastest of any member of the finny tribe. A Chinook salmon will grow so fast that in four years it will tip the scales at from nine to 14 pounds. These fish are very gamey and it takes from one hour to one hour and a half to land one of them from the hook is fastened in the jaw.

Massachusetts has been co-operating with the Vermont State fish and game commission relative to the re-stocking of ponds, lakes, streams, etc., in this State and the Old Bay State has contributed several hundred thousand eggs of the fresh water perch. These eggs have been hatched and placed in the ponds of Vermont, where the small perch become food for the land-locked salmon and the lake trout.

Vermont has contributed to the fish re-stocking plans in Massachusetts and many eggs of the pike perch have been taken from waters in the Green Mountain State and placed in the ponds of Vermont, and other places, hatched and put into waters in that State.

DALTON VICE-PRESIDENT

Given Office at Meeting of North American Health Authorities

Recognition throughout North America of the efficient work planned and carried out by the Vermont State Board of Health, through its general and executive secretary, Dr. Charles F. Dalton of this city, was made at the 34th annual conference of the State and Provincial Health Authorities of North America, held last Friday and Saturday at Atlantic City, N. J.

By a unanimous choice Dr. Dalton was elected vice-president of the organization, whose scope is all of the United States and all of provinces of Canada. There is only one vice-president of the organization, not one from each State and province, as is customary in international organizations.

The president of the organization was Dr. W. F. Cawwell of the State Board of Health of Montana and the secretary was Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, director of public health of Illinois. There were representatives from 40 States and three provinces present, and topics centered on the health of the people of North America were discussed.

Prior to attending the conference Dr. Dalton was in Washington, D. C., as a delegate representing the Vermont State Board of Health at the annual conference of State and Territorial health officials with the Surgeon-General of the United States public health service.

Roger J. Sawtelle of Montpelier and Louis J. Hallowell of 72 Lafountain street, this city, were accepted for enlistment and forwarded to Albany Friday morning. Sawtelle will be enlisted for the motor transport corps and Hallowell for the tank corps.

A letter has been received at the local recruiting station from Earl G. Maxwell, who, until special permission had been obtained from the adjutant-general, had been rejected by the army and navy many times. Sergeant Maxwell wrote as he was waiting to board the transport for the Army of Occupation. He stated that he was much pleased with the army life and surprised at the quick advancement. Sergeant Maxwell was forwarded from Burlington April 23 and received promotion from private to sergeant within two months.

CONDAMNED

"Selecting the jury has become one of the most important features of the modern trial," remarked Judge White the other day, "and would be surprised how difficult it is to get really intelligent and unbiased men to sit at one time. I recall once when a whole week was spent in selecting a jury to try a killing."

"Finally one old fellow seemed to fill the bill and would complete the quota. He had no prejudices, was not opposed to capital punishment, and was considered a valuable find. So the prosecuting attorney said solemnly, 'Jury, look upon the prisoner—prisoner, look upon the juror.'"

"The old man adjusted his spectacles and peered at the prisoner for a full half minute. Then, turning to the court, he said:

"'Judge, turned if I don't believe he's guilty.'—Exchange.

TEACHERS ANNOUNCED FOR NEXT SCHOOL YEAR
Vacancies to Be Filled in Principals of Junior High School and Truant Officer—New Course for Pupils of Four Grades

Appointments of teachers for the school year 1919-20 were announced at the regular meeting of the school commissioners for the month of June Friday night at the high school building. That constituted the greater part of the business of the evening, but some other appointments will be made later to fill vacancies, and among them will be a principal for the junior high school, to take the place of Wesley H. Douglas, and to the office of truant officer.

One of the new features to be introduced into the school department next fall will be a home economics and household arts course for the children of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades, to be conducted by Miss Margaret Norton.

The board voted a resolution of thanks sent to A. J. Canning of the Burlington Rendering company for 2,000 pounds of fertilizer which he donated for the garden conducted by the school department for the Thayer pupils, and for the plowing at that school, which the company also furnished.

A list of the supervisors, special teachers and regular teachers in the schools as appointed follows:

Supervisors—Beryl M. Harrington, music; Alice G. Jackson, art; Georgia P. Devine, school gardens; Dr. T. E. Hays, director physical culture; L. Edith Rhodes, assistant physical director; Mary Maude Patrick, primary grades; Helen M. Chapin, director home economics.

High school—John E. Colburn, principal; Effie Moore, Phebe M. Towle, Charles E. Putney, Mary E. Pease, Mary M. Devette, Lucy E. Cyr, Marie A. McMahon, Harriet L. McCann, Mabel A. Taylor, Charlotte F. Hale, Kathryn M. Sturte, Helen E. Mitchell, Adrian E. Holmes, Ruth Henderson, Clara L. Holzer, Alice C. Canton, Leon A. Orr, Elizabeth C. Isham, Helen G. Hendee, Sinia F. King, Miss Abbott, Margaret Whittemore, Margaret Norton.

Junior high school—J. H. Miller, principal; Minnie M. Barker, Mary M. Walden, Helen E. Maden, Alice P. Keefe, Mary E. Leddy, Marion C. Jackson, Lida M. Landon, Pearl M. Grandy.

MYSTERY CLEARED UP

Lieut. H. L. Miller Killed in Action While Leading Gallant Defense

Word has been received from the war department that Lieut. Herbert L. Miller, who has been reported missing since September 16, is now reported killed in action.

Lieutenant Miller was the ranking lieutenant in Company K, 36th Infantry, 7th Division. On the night of September 16, 1918, at Cambrai, while he was in command of the forward line, composed of portions of five companies, following a 20-minute barrage fire, his position was attacked in force by the Germans. Under the attack, owing to the lack of enough officers to command them and the darkness and confusion, the line broke to the left and sifted back through the opening in the wire.

EASTERN STARS END ANNUAL MEETING
Installation of New Officers Brings Convention of Grand Chapter of Vermont to a Close—Many Guests Present from Other States

Thursday night with an installation of the grand officers of the Grand Chapter of Vermont, Order of Eastern Star, the 4th annual gathering of that body was brought to a close in the Masonic Temple after a session lasting two days and attended by several hundred delegates, representing 25 chapters.

The officers installed were elected Thursday afternoon, as follows: Grand patron, Francis W. Cutting of Barton; grand matron, Mrs. Phyllis M. Burditt of Springfield; associate grand patron, Harry D. McChrill of Marshfield; associate grand matron, Mrs. Addie F. Allen of Milton; grand secretary, Mrs. Olive J. Stowell of Brattleboro; grand treasurer, Mrs. Etta F. Frazer of Windsor; grand conductress, Mrs. Josie H. Fay of North Williston; grand conductress, Mrs. Nellie M. Smythe of St. Johnsbury. The appointive officers named last night follow: Grand warder, Mrs. Anna A. Evans of Rutland; grand lecturer, Miss Abbie F. Clarke, Randolph; grand marshal, Mrs. Carrie D. Walker, Burlington; grand chaplain, Mrs. Clara E. Groom, St. Albans; grand Ada, Mrs. Elsie Carrick, Hartwick; grand Ruth, Mrs. Lillian Larabee, Storham; grand Esther, Mrs. Goldie E. Davis, Northfield; grand Martha, Mrs. Effie Diamond, Manchester Depot; grand Electa, Mrs. Carrie Hamilton, Brattleboro; grand organist, Mrs. Anna E. Macbride, Winoski; grand sentinel, Dr. J. H. Miller of Wallingford.

Thursday morning's session was a lengthy one and included many features. It opened with a reception to the grand officers for 1919-20 by the officers of Temple Chapter, No. 75, of Burlington. Then followed the presentation of the national colors with the order's flag ceremony, all of which was under the direction of Mrs. Anna A. Evans of Burlington, the grand matron. The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Carrie D. Walker, worthy matron of Temple Chapter, No. 75, of Burlington, and the response by Mrs. Phyllis M. Burditt of Springfield, associate grand matron.

The reception to distinguished guests was a most enjoyable feature for it was possible many new friendships and furthered the sisterly spirit of the order. Among the guests in the receiving line were:

Mrs. Ellie Lines-Chapin, right worthy associate matron of Grand Chapter of Pine Mountain, Concord, N. H.; Mrs. Georgia M. Plaisdel, past grand matron of New Hampshire, of Meredith, N. H.; Phillip J. Jerguson, grand patron, of Massachusetts, of West Medford, Mass.; Mrs. Lucy Colby, grand treasurer of Massachusetts, of Newburyport, Mass.; Mrs. Emily Elmo A. Bridge, grand matron of Massachusetts, of Wrentham, Mass.; grand marshal of Massachusetts, Mrs. Louis G. Crafts, past grand matron of Massachusetts, of Northampton, Mass.; Miss Alice E. Walcott, past worthy matron of Massachusetts, of Pittsfield, Mass.; Mrs. Mattie D. Ross, past matron of the Eastern Star of Pittsfield, Mass.; Ashton D. Ross of Lady Emma, Pittsfield, Mass.

After the reception to the guests, Mrs. Anna A. Evans of this city, the grand matron, gave an address of welcome to the visitors. The events in order following were the presentation of past grand patrons and past grand matrons, a response for the presentation by Mrs. Abbie D. Stone, grand matron; reception of grand representatives near sister grand jurisdictions; response, Mrs. Georgianna T. Cushing, grand representative of Missouri; report of committee on credentials; announcement of standing committee; address of grand patron, Frederick W. Wallace.

At the afternoon session the opening event was a memorial service conducted by the Charlotte Morris association, following which the business session was in order. After the regular business was disposed of, the Past Grand Matrons' and Patrons' association held their annual banquet at the Hotel Sherwood.

BISHOP HOPKINS HALL

Play, Garden Party and Awarding of Diplomas End School Year

Thursday afternoon the graduation exercises were held at Bishop Hopkins Hall and five young ladies were awarded diplomas. The exercises started at three o'clock with a play, "Land of Heart's Desire," in which the Misses Marion Marble, Sara R. Cochran, Lucile R. Cheney, Mary C. Hofferker, Mary Watson and Adeline Flosson participated. This was a large number of invited guests present.

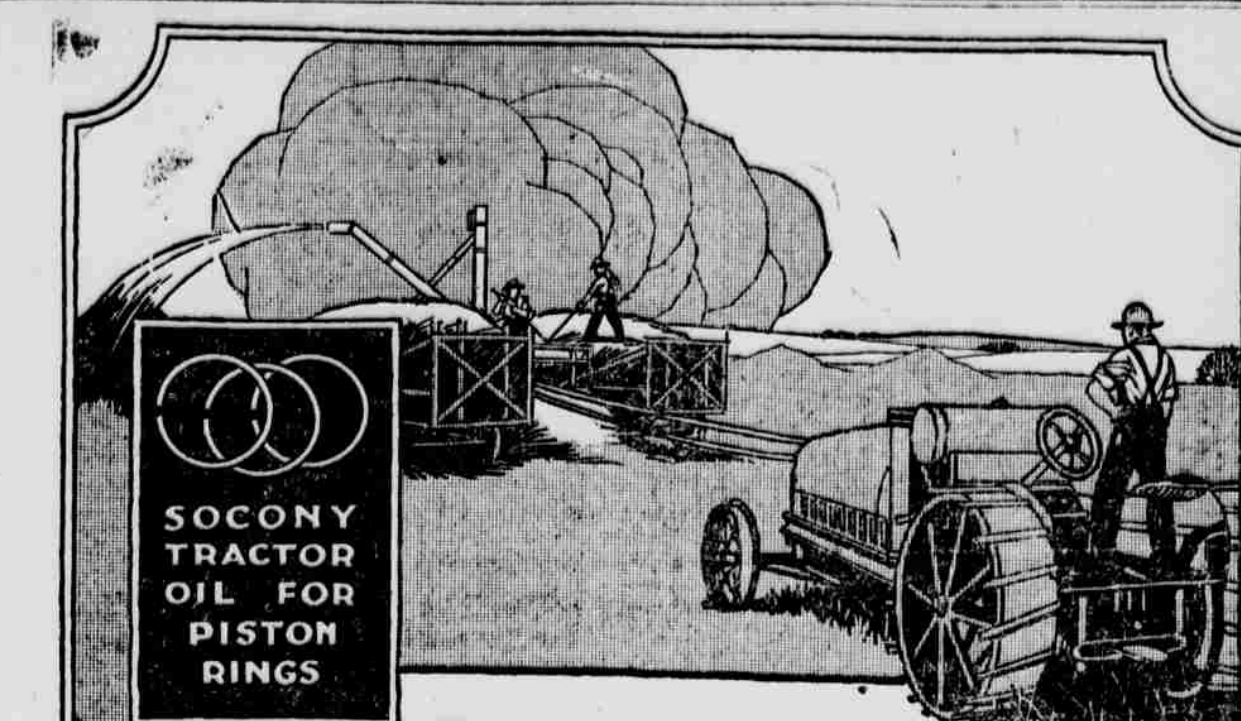

Following the play there was a garden party. Chapel exercises came after the party and the annual commencement address was delivered by Bishop Hall. Diplomas were awarded to the Misses Marion Marble of Woodstock, Sara R. Cochran of East Dorset, Mary Weeks of Rutland, Lucile Cheney of South Manchester, Conn., and Mary C. Hofferker of Wilmington, Del.

SOCONY TRACTOR OIL FOR PISTON RINGS

Tractor Performance is Governed by Lubrication

The service and power your tractor delivers—its performance—depends largely on lubrication—a gas-tight piston-to-cylinder seal—every bearing and moving part oil-cushioned against wear and running quietly.

Ordinary motor oils are not suitable because tractors work for hours at full load and develop an extra high operating heat—especially when kerosene is the fuel. They need a special oil.

SoCony Gas Engine Tractor Oil is the oil leading tractor manufacturers recommend. It retains its body and lubricating qualities at high cylinder heat. Coats valve mechanism, shafts and bearings with a protective film of pure lubricant. Cushions cylinders and piston rings against wear and maintains full compression. Gets all the usable power out of the fuel.

Keeps tractors powerful and fit the year round at the smallest cost for oil, fuel and repairs.

Wallace E. Gilbert, Barre, grand marshal.
Walter C. Washburn, Montpelier, grand steward.
William H. Folsom, Burlington, grand sentinel.

Following the election the officers were installed by M. L. Walter E. Keith of Brattleboro, grand master of Grand Council, Royal and Select Masters, of Massachusetts.

His first political office was as member of the Forty-Sixth Congress, 1879-81, from the Sixth New York district. From 1881 to 1888 he was United States Minister to France. From 1889 to 1893 he was Vice President of the United States, elected on the ticket with Benjamin Harrison. In 1895 the Republicans made him their candidate for governor of New York. He was elected, but he was recently advanced to the priesthood. It is confidently expected that he will accept the call and it is hoped that he will take up his work by August.

CURATE AT ST. PAUL'S

Rev. A. Cyril Drumm of Los Angeles Elected to Position

On recommendation of the rector, the Rev. S. Halstead Watkins, with the hearty approval of the bishop, the vestry of St. Paul's Church has elected the Rev. A. Cyril Drumm to the curacy of the parish. Mr. Drumm spent a part of his deaconate in this diocese, working under Bishop Bliss. He is now an assistant in St. John's parish at Los Angeles, Cal., where he was recently advanced to the priesthood. It is confidently expected that he will accept the call and it is hoped that he will take up his work by August.

NEW COUNTY AGENT

E. H. Leonard of Chelsea to Take up Work about July 1

E. H. Leonard of Chelsea was elected Saturday afternoon by the executive committee of the Chittenden County Farm Bureau association as the new county agent for the organization. There were several candidates considered for the position by the committee, but the candidacy of Mr. Leonard met with the approval of all members.

The work will not be new to Mr. Leonard for he has had several years' experience in county agent in Orange county for three years which he holds at the present time. He will assume his duties about July 1.
